

It was especially pointed out, and could hardly be missed, that the original impression of the ship was never fully removed, and the crew of the ship were ever afterwards viewed with jealousy and distrust.

Mr. Editor—In order to save postage, I am induced to submit this note to your editorial capacity, humbly hoping you will give it publicity, and thus confer an incalculable obligation on your rejected correspondent.

JONATHAN.

TO L. E. L.
Editor—Having been for the last six or seven years in search of a wife, and being much alarmed at the approaching title of Bachelor, I am induced to offer myself as a candidate for your favour. It is true, I have neither beauty, wit, fortune, uncommon talents, a lively or agreeable disposition, or an exceedingly fine temper; but, in several particulars, your novel advertisement, I trust you will not consider me ardent, in thus addressing you—I am a young man of 27, who graduated in the University of Pennsylvania, and am now engaged in the study and practice of Law. I am, as you desired in pursuit of literary attainments, and although, as before intimated, without a fortune, I am still making a comfortable support by my practice—nevertheless, I am an ardent admirer of literature, and have seen many ladies whom I thought might satisfy my wish, still I have not been able to make the necessary disclosure of my sentiments. With regard to the choice of which you speak between your two interesting suitors, I am not at all particular, having no doubt that I shall find an agreeable partner in either. In anxious solicitude for your determination, and with the humble desire that you will deign to notice me, I am your ardent admirer, and devoted slave.

Philadelphia, October, 30, 1823.

TO THE SEVENTH EDITION.

Editor—If I'm not too late I'll take 'trotter of them ladies you published last week. I took on they're suited, at any rate the high one that Mr. Adams bespoke, but I think I'll suit the little one, if so be she'll have me. You may tell 'em I live in Vermont, and that I'm not more than 20 years old, yet I'm 6 feet 2, and many in my opinion as my mother says, I'm not got much blooded brain, but I can make out a good fortune when one of my wife's countess dies—if they'll call at cousin's I guess I'll suit 'em.

TOMAS RHAR.

INDIAN ELOQUENCE.

The following poem from Peter Harris, one of the famous orators of the South Carolina Indians.

To the memory of South Carolina—An ode of the lingering embers of an almost expired race—our graves will soon be our habitation. I am one of the few who still remain in the field, when the tempest of the revolution is past. I fought against the British for your sake. The British have disappeared and you are free—yet from me the British took nothing; for I have gained any thing by their defeat. I pursue the deer for my subsistence—the deer are disappearing, and I must starve. God ordered me for the forest, and my habitation is the shadow of the strength of my arm decayed, and my feet fall in the chase—the hand which fought for your liberty is now open for your relief. In my youth, I bled in battle that you might be independent—let not my heart, in my old age, bleed for the want of your commemoration.

THE WEST.—We noticed in our last, a statement made, that Mr. Plumer, a Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, and only about 60 years of age, was believed to be the oldest person living that was born West of the Alleghany mountains. We have since received a letter from a very respectable gentleman, dated in Kentucky, the 15th ult. from which we derive the following curious facts. The informant, who was the daughter of the wife of a soldier named Vaughan, a sergeant in Gen. Clarke's corps. The soldier with which the salute was fired, was used as well for defence against the Indians as to alarm the first of Louisville, and when it was fired, Captain Thomas and Lieut. Wm. Clarke hurried down and hailed to know the cause of the firing. It was a dark, dreary night, and when they heard the reason of it, Captain Thomas said that he would not have cared for the disturbance had the child been a boy—but the party from Louisville returned to their lodgings in a good humour. We have chiefly used the words of our correspondent, and he adds, that the facts may be relied on.—Vite.

Mayor of Philadelphia—A petition appears, signed by the New York Evening Post, in some of the Philadelphia newspapers of that place, to the next legislature, setting forth that the present mode of appointing their mayor, by having the candidate to one of the fifteen aldermen, has been found quite unsatisfactory, and "incompatible with the principles upon which the political establishments of this country are founded," "wherefore the petitioners pray that a law may be passed that hereafter the mayor of the city should be taken from the inhabitants at large, and elected immediately by the people at large. Such is the manner in which the chief magistracy of the cities of Boston and Baltimore are elected. Without attempting to show the preference to which this mode is entitled, we have no hesitation in saying that our method of appointing, by the majority of the common council, is the very worst, in its consequences, of any that ever entered the head of any man. The truth is, an experienced man has demonstrated it to be so, that it renders a mayor, who is desirous of retaining his situation, a dependent on the common council, and it requires more finesse than falls to the lot of most men, to give an impartial, honest vote on an important question.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

New-York, Dec. 13.—The fleet of September packet ship Canada, Captain Rogers, arrived last evening from Liverpool, having sailed on her regular day. Among the passengers, it is recalled the vessel of the Duke of Wellington to the French capital in relation to the affairs of Greece, and that France will allow England to act in Greece as she pleases, and, if necessary, unite with England in opposition to the views of Russia and Austria.

Accounts from Corfu, of the 29th ult. announce that Reschid Pacha, soon after the arrival of the Captain Pacha, off Missolonghi, attempted an assault on the outer works of that fortress but was repulsed by the Greeks, with considerable loss. Admiral Mousis, it is said, had landed several Turkish vessels between Messolonghi and New-York.

The London Sun of the evening of the 19th August, notices the receipt of Papers of the 27th, and says—"The only interesting news they contain is that from Spain, and thence we learn that disturbances have taken place in that country, and that its affairs are fast approaching a crisis. The leader of the rebels is Gen. Bessieres, and he has been joined by three companies of the regiment of Santiago, stationed at Jafide, and they took the route to Brindisa.

He is now making his way towards Aragon, where he had hopes of meeting with more partisans. Gen. Count D'Espinoza is in pursuit of him with 3000 infantry and cavalry, and four pieces of cannon. His arrest was daily expected. The King has issued a very strong decree against him, dated from St. Ildefonso.

The Durham Advertiser of the 27th August says, "Smallerland has been this week thrown into consternation by the failure of two houses, one of which is to an immense amount, and will cause some hundred men to be thrown out of employment."

On the 26th and 30th July, Madrid was visited with a dreadful storm, which continued six and thirty hours, and destroyed the crops of grain and the fruit within a circle of seven leagues round the capital. The damage is estimated at several millions of reals, and wheat had in consequence advanced three or four reals per fanega.

Mr. Owen, since his return to Britain, has published one of his American Lectures in the Glasgow Chronicle. He denies that the people of the United States enjoy real liberty, and reverence for Christianity he calls "the despotism of weak minds." This sort of cast is much easier to Mr. Owen.

It is at this time that the British government is opposed to Lord Cochrane's intended expedition to Greece, which was started by the holders of the Greek loan.

It is reported that the Archduchess Maria Louisa, widow of Bonaparte, has been married to the Count Neipperg, who is to be raised to the dignity of a Prince.

The British Parliament assembled on the 25th August, and was further prorogued to the 1st of November.

The Etrole states that a new French force is about to enter Spain, 2000 to be stationed at the Balear provinces, 4000 to be stationed at the Balear provinces, and 2000 in Madrid. French letters which appear in the Quotidienne, dated Madrid, August 4, it would appear that the French in Spain have outlived the good will of their Spanish friends. In the province of Catalonia, the inhabitants are said to have taken up arms in expectation of a new French army crossing the Pyrenees.

A new lithographic invention is announced at Brussels, by which the French papers are to be copied and reprinted within two hours after the arrival of the Mail.

The cotton spinners of Manchester have reduced the price of their yarn. In high numbers, the reduction is from 3s. to 2s. 7d. a pound. The cultivation of silk in Egypt is going on upon an extensive scale.

The English brig Britannia, Neale, which loaded at Enos with provisions for the Turks in the Morea, has been carried into Napoli de Romania by the Greeks, and her cargo condemned. The English Consul refused to interfere in her behalf.

It is said most of the transports which follow the Turkish fleet are Austrian vessels. Another expedition as strong as the first was preparing in Egypt to act against the Greeks. It was supposed most of the Egyptian fleet had gone to bring it.

A conspiracy has been discovered at Napoli, headed by a Turk attired in the European costume, who professed great interest in the cause of the Greeks. He raised troops, and had in his corps thirteen other Turks. Their plan was to spike the cannon at Napoli as the Turks advanced. After being put to the torture the traitor made a full confession, and was burnt alive.

An interesting trial is given in the English papers for assault and battery on an Editor—Mr. Judge, editor of the Cheltenham Chronicle, having published some pretty free remarks on Col. Berkeley, the "protector" of the celebrated Miss Fother, the gallant Colonel, accompanied by Lord S. Lennox, and R. C. Hammond, Esq. and provided with the heaviest horse-pistol they could find at a soldier's shop, went to the house of the editor, found him in his parlour, closed the door upon him, beat, cut, and mangled him for a considerable time, and retired, exulting in his brutality. Mr. Judge was confined to his bed three weeks in a dangerous state, and one of his eyes had not recovered its sight, from a crack of the lash. He is a weak thin man, and wears spectacles and a wig, which was pulled off by one of the noble ruffians. He was left covered with gore, and the floor and wall were splattered with the blood of the victim. Counsel Phillips conducted the prosecution, and did not spare the defendants in his remarks. The jury returned a verdict of five hundred pounds damages. The affair originated in an account of the "Berkeley Hunt Ball," given in the Chronicle.

Under a Brussels date it is stated that the Vincent Dubus de Ghisignies, appointed to the office of Commissioner General of the Indies for three years, will have an annual salary of 120,000 florins, 40,000 more for his outfit, and 150 annually for "keeping up the garden of the palace in which he shall reside in India." The salary and outfit of our foreign ministers is, by some, thought extravagant, but what will these economists say to the above, which brought into our currency, will give us the annual salary $75,000, an outfit of $150,000, and $5000 annually to keep up the garden.

The subjects of the king of the Netherlands pay well for the services of the Commissioner General of the Indies.

In the Royal Court at Goernary, (Eng.) on the 6th ult. a circumstance came out which kept the Court in a roar. It was an action by Joseph Smith against Miss Anne Oliver, for the care and maintenance of three cats for nine months. Miss Oliver being obliged to go to London for some time, engaged Joseph to take care of her cats and feed her two properly, for which she agreed to pay her two shillings per week. On her return in May last, Joseph brought in his account, amounting to 25 lbs. 10s. which Miss Oliver refused to pay, on the ground that Joseph had neglected the cats so much that two of them had died a long time before her return, and that she had attempted to impose upon her, by substituting another cat instead of one of her own that died, and that this strange cat had been maintained at her expense, and that she had some trouble to get rid of it after she came back. The bailiff, and two of the judges, were in favor of the plaintiff, and allowed her demand.

A Belfast (Ireland) Paper mentions a recent decision of an important suit, in which property to the probable amount of £140,000 sterling was involved. A Mr. O'Hara, a Protestant gentleman, had been married to a French lady by a Catholic clergyman. In consequence of this forbidden rite, it has been determined that neither the widow of Mr. O'Hara, nor her issues by him, have any legal claim to the O'Hara estate; and the sons of Mr. O'Hara have been deprived of their father's property, by a due course of law, because a Catholic priest solemnized the marriage of their parents.

A catalogue of Hayworth has manufactured a cage filled with birds, to the number of 60, representing parrots, sparrows, &c. each of which has the peculiar note given by nature. The cage is made of brass, and the wheels which make them move and produce the sound, of silver; the plumage is real. A person of distinction it appears, offered the watch-maker 32,000 florins for his cage, but he will not take less than 60,000.

The Harper's Ferry Press of the 5th inst. states that Col. Abernethy, of the Topographical Engineers, and his Corps of Assistants, had arrived at that place and resumed the survey of the Potomac River. They were expected to reach tide water, and the city of Washington in the course of four or five weeks.

Here were 18,226 bbls. flour (including half-supplied in Richmond, Virg.) during the quarter ending the 30th September. It is estimated for the same period, the amount imported was 101,949. And in Alexandria during the same period, 18,593 bbls.

Of the Loan lately paid off by the United States, about a million and a half was paid in the city of New-York. It is stated by persons conversant with money matters, that the disbursal of this large sum has greatly relieved the money market there, and in other parts of the country.

A seedling Muscadelle Pear, of the second growth, has been presented to the editor of the Hampshire Journal, Springfield, Mass. The tree is described by Forsyth as sometimes producing two crops in a year. The tree that produced this pear was raised from the seed, and has had two crops a year for three years. It is a beautiful pear and very early—the first crop ripens the last of July, and the second in September.

The Adams Centinel of the 5th, says, "we understand that Mr. Lawrence (father of Mr. Henry's town, in this county, was the former holder of one fourth part of the ticket which drew the capital prize of $30,000 in the Baltimore University Lottery, on Friday last." One fourth of a $50,000 prize, in the Union Canal Lottery, fell to citizens of this same county of Adams, the present season.

A Sturgeon about six feet in length, weighing about two hundred pounds, leaped into a boat which was at anchor in the Sampit opposite the market, at Georgetown, S. C. on the 24th ult. he was made prize of by a number of negroes who saw the leap. It was sold out as Albany beef, in relation.

The Grand Jury of Bradford County, (Pa.) have presented the General Government and Secretary of the Navy, for the course pursued relative to Com. Porter. This, to say the least, is a strange proceeding.

The Norfolk Herald intimates, that Chapman Johnson, a very able and influential Virginian, may be chosen to fill the vacancy in the Senate occasioned by the resignation of Governor Barbour.

Commodore Barron has returned to his duty as commanding officer on the Norfolk station. As President of the late Court Martials, placed in a most delicate position as he was, it is but just to say that his department, and the manner of discharging the duties of the office, are pronounced to have been perfectly correct and satisfactory—although some of the results of those trials have made a serious impression on the public mind.

A gentleman lately arrived at the city of New-York, in six days and ten hours from Detroit. This journey may be made in five days and twelve hours, and by regular lines of steam boats and stages. If any man had suggested the possibility of this, twenty years ago, he would have been regarded as a candidate for some hospital for the insane.

The U. S. ship Hornet has sailed from Norfolk, carrying out Com. Bannbridge and Warrenton and Capt. Biddle, deputed by government to fit up, and contract for the purchase of a side in the Gulf of Mexico, for a naval arsenal, in execution of the law of Congress at its last session.

The Vermont Messenger says, that heavy fires have been perceptible in the State of Maine. The Bangor paper states that the country for thirty miles in extent on the Penobscot, appears like "a fire." In the vicinity of the heaviest fire it is said the ground actually trembled, and the roaring of the flames, which sounded like thunder, was heard at the distance of twelve or fifteen miles.

A female about 35 years of age, of a slender form and pilgrim appearance, is now traveling on foot through the State of Illinois, as a preacher and excites much attention.

She only carries with her sufficient clothing to supply her immediate wants. She is described as a woman of strong intellect, clear in her ideas, consistent in her arguments, of a happy and easy delivery; and graceful in her utterances.

A company is forming at Northampton, Mass. for the purpose of erecting a large stone building on the summit of Mount Holyoke, as a resort for travellers, during the summer season.

The Louisiana Gazette of the 12th ult. printed at New Orleans, contains the following article:—"While in search of one of my negroes a few days since, I noticed a strange black with the letters 'B. M.' branded with a hot iron on his bosom. Upon inquiring of him by this way the famous Baron of France, identifies his property."

Curious coincidences in Sailing and Arrival. The packet ship James Cropper, Marshall, and the Herald, M'Manus, both sailed from New-York on Monday, the 1st Aug. and arrived at Liverpool on Monday 29th, after a passage of 28 days. The ships Mentor and Niagara sailed from New-York on Saturday, July 30th, and both arrived the same morning, August 26th, after a passage of 30 days. These coincidences in sailing and arrival are worthy of record. It is further worthy of remark, that the Herald and Mentor fell in with each other shortly after leaving New-York, and continued in company for eight days; at the end of that period they separated, fell in again the 21st August, and kept company till their arrival.

The French brig Maria Theres, Captain Ferard, 19 days from Point Petre, (Guad.) bound to Wilmington, N. C. went ashore on N. Edisto Bar, off Charleston, S. C. on the 29th ult. in a gale of wind, and immediately fell on her side. Her crew consisted of 12 persons, 7 of whom were unfortunately drowned. The captain and the remainder of the crew were taken off a sand bank by a fishing boat, after remaining in the water six hours, they were very much bruised and are entirely destitute, having lost all their clothing, &c. Two men were left on the beach to endeavour to save what may float from the wreck. The men who were drowned left the wreck on plank, in hopes of reaching the shore, but were thrown off them by a strong current.

The captain, mate, and two seamen, swam from the wreck, with the hope of reaching the shore, and got on a sand bank, where they soon perceived that owing to the rapid rise of the tide, that they would perish in an hour, being up to their breasts in water; providentially the fishermen saved their lives as mentioned above. The Maria Theres was in ballast, and belonged to M. Willies. It is expected she will go to pieces at the next tide, as all of her upper works were washed away—she was about 260 tons, and 9 or 10 years old.

Meeting of Veterans in the Sea Service. The four following gentlemen lately met at a Hotel, in St. Petersburg, viz: Capt. Buffington, of ship Messenger—Capt. Hulen, of ship Isis—Capt. Exams, of brig Howard, and Capt. Allen of brig Gallego. These gentlemen have followed the sea an average of 42 years, and neither of them was ever cast away. [The first named gentleman belongs to Salem, the second to Marblehead, the third to Boston, and the last to Warren, K. J.]—Pallad.

The Missouri Advocate states, that copper is found from Omscocon and the Falls of St. Anthony to the shores of Lake Superior, in such abundance and purity that the Indians make hatchets and ornaments of it, and that it is easily worked into any form without any other instrument than the hammer. The whole region of the upper Mississippi is mineral, abounding in lead and copper. The lead mines are in the hands of the United States; but the copper are still retained by the Indians.

A free negro man was lately sold in Virginia, under a recent law of the legislature, as a slave during life, for a violation of some law. He, however, escaped from his purchaser—but was apprehended in Georgetown, in Columbia district, and brought before the mayor when this negro, by counsel, pleaded the unconstitutionality of the act, and advanced proof that he was free born. The mayor refused to surrender him up to the purchaser. Here the matter rests—and will probably be a question for the supreme court to settle.

The following notification is of importance to Merchants and Captains of vessels:—"It is ascertained from Major Barney, superintendent of Light Houses, that the Thomas Light in the Chesapeake is completed, and will supply the supply of oil to go into the light, which is calculated to be from the 1st to the 24th inst.—The light will be invariable 95 miles."

We learn from Capt. Shaw, of the schr. Thos. or Beverly, which arrived at Boston from St. Isabella, Spanish Main, that while lying there a boat was deserted floating among the Reeds. On boarding her there were found 4 Indians, 3 of whom were dead; the other nearly so. The survivor stated that they were at work on board a brig on the Indian Coast, near Rio de la Hacha, and that being intoxicated they had thrown the Captain, mate, and crew overboard, and then drifted out to sea in the boat. Eight muskets, several blunderbusses, &c. were found in the boat, and from her build, &c. it was presumed she was an English brig from Jamaica. The fate of the vessel was unknown.

A young man by the name of Ephraim Hart, of Royalton, in the State of New-York, had been paying his addresses to a young lady in his neighborhood, and the 29th ult. was fixed upon for their wedding. He paid a visit to her the previous Sunday evening, apparently in the full enjoyment of health—with the prospect of long life, and in the pleasing anticipation of the approaching period, which would enhance his earthly happiness by a union with the object of his affections. As he arose to depart, he turned around as if to wish upon the floor! Thus he was completely dead upon his feet. Gladness, been made a season of mourning, and the wife that was to have been attired as the happy bride, is now clothed in the sable vestment, which bespeaks but faintly the anguish of her heart.

We congratulate the public, (says the Albany Daily Advertiser) that a company of twenty-four enterprising individuals, among whom are some belonging to the first mercantile houses in the city, has been formed to carry on trade direct between Europe and West India. A schooner is now lying at our dock for this purpose; her cargo, in part, consists of horses. We have no doubt but that success will crown these efforts to extend the business of this fast growing capital of the first state in the union.

An Italian nobleman, named Count Vidua, is in the Eastern States, about to commence a tour through a part of this country. The following account of him is from the Portland Advertiser:—"Count Vidua is an intelligent Italian traveler, who having visited every other quarter of the globe; who having penetrated into the heart of Africa and along the coast of Asia, is filled up the measure of his information and curiosity by exploring the unknown and resources of the new world. His inquiries, in every part of the country, are extremely minute and ingenious, and by preserving minute notes of all valuable facts, he has accumulated a vast body of materials which may hereafter extend in the old world a knowledge of the situation, character, and institutions of our part of the globe. His intended route is to Quebec, through the Lakes, across to the Ohio river, to New Orleans and through the Western States to Washington. He is remarkably well qualified for accurate and useful observation, by a previous and a foreigner, would naturally acquire knowledge of our political and civil history. We wish him a successful accomplishment of his interesting undertaking.

Spontaneous Combustion.—An instance of spontaneous combustion occurred at the woolen factory, in Cummington, belonging to D. J. Lons & Co. on the 14th inst. On the 13th, the mule from under the carding machine was gathered into a basket and set out side of the door, on the sixth side of the factory; and in the course of the day it was thrown on the ground and a light shower fell upon it. On the 14th, about one o'clock, a smoke began to arise from the mule, and in about two hours afterwards it burst out into a flame, and it was consumed in the presence of a great number of spectators.

Depredate Affair.—On the 27th ult. an unfortunate occurrence took place at Alexandria, La. Two white men were confined in the parish Jail, one as a vagrant and the other on a charge of resisting public authority. An Indian, who was also confined, charged with larceny, he was of a large and robust stature, in the prime of life; as the weather was warm and the charges were not of that grave character which required rigid treatment, and the other room being occupied by other prisoners, the Sheriff of the parish, very humanely, allowed them the benefit of the debtors room as it was more airy, and a guard was constantly kept up in an adjoining room. At about five o'clock, notice was given by the guard that some violence had commenced between the prisoners, the Sheriff immediately repaired there, had the door opened and found the Indian and the survivor of the two others in a desperate combat, the Indian armed with a knife and fork, and the other without arms, protecting himself in the best way he could; his presence separated them, the Indian was barely escaped from the jail with his life. The Indian withdrew into the corner of the room, and were then made to capture him without injury, which proved abortive, he set all authorities at defiance and courted death—several persons addressed him in his own language, conjuring him to yield to the civil authority, to all of which peaceable solicitations he paid no heed, and fortified himself within the walls with broken bottles and brick bats, which he hurled indiscriminately at all who approached the door, and peremptorily refused to be taken from the room alive. The Sheriff was extremely anxious for his capture, and maintained the irritated feelings of the citizens, who had promptly assembled on the occasion, every effort was made to induce him to surrender without injury to his person, for near two hours, which proved unavailing; night was approaching, and at length it was thought he might be taken if slightly wounded—pistols and guns were then charged and fired into the prison for that purpose, which seemed to dash his determination, and finally about dark one shot struck a vital part, and on examination he was found to be dead. The survivor of the 3 is named Martin, and says that himself and the deceased white man, were sleeping when the Indian killed Gorman, by giving him several stabs in the breast with the knife and fork, and then attacked him, who had been alarmed and was on the alert, and placed himself in a defensive position, where he was found fighting when relieved by the Sheriff. He is much injured, and says that he is ignorant of any cause of irritation having been given by either himself or the deceased Gorman. Before the arrival of the Sheriff, the jailor Mr. Johnson, was very severely wounded by a piece of glass bottle hurled at him through the window, by the Indian, when he was using every effort to suppress his violence.

The brig Harriet, Capt. Conklin, has arrived at Baltimore, from Rio. The day she sailed, a steam packet arrived from England, via Bahia, belonging to government. Letters from Pernambuco had been received at Rio, stating that Lusa and China goods were no longer allowed to be imported there; the vessels for consumption, and a change in the government of Bahia, a like regulation, it was supposed, would take effect there.

The hostilities against the Brazilian Government by the Patriots of the Banda Oriental, were not terminated, although carried on with little vigour. It was thought at Rio that the government of Buenos
